

The Federal Reserve Banking Cartel Terrorizes America with Phony Manufactured Financial Crisis

Ending The Beast

It is high time the American people wake up and end the banking cartel control grid.

The solution is simple... to end the beast... Stop feeding money to the corporate beast! Stop investing in monetary institutions and manage your money locally. Invest in your local resources. Refuse compound interest loans and demand simple interest loans.

The beast screams and threatens the people of the world condemning us to pure hell and damnation by constantly stirring our emotional fear of being ... what?... Broke? ... Destitute? We made it before the banking cartels and we will make it after they vanish from our presence.

What are we going to be if we do not pay them? Are we going to be rid of them? YES. America has over three hundred million people most of which are becoming angry at themselves and those who in 1913 allowed the Federal Reserve banking cartel crooks to take power over our country. The nation is in a state of mind where we want the banking cartel criminals hunted down and arrested. The only question is who will clean up this little band of criminals?

Listen up beast... I did not, do not and will not ever approve of your financial terrorization of my nation or the world. You know there are more people like me in the world than there are of you... And as your illusions dissolve the energy you drained from the world will be used to out create you. It is increasingly evident that your ability to control the masses exponentially diminishes as the consciousness of the people elevates. The masses now understand that you are and have been the greatest whore and parasite in the world.

I already know who and what you are... but when the masses see you... they will end you. You are the criminal and you are revealed more and more every day.

The best way to end you is to stop feeding you. This is destined to happen and there is nothing the cartel can do to stop it... Nothing in or out of this world will change the fate of your end. Now, as the people wake up to this massive, diabolical scam, they will be sure you and people like you will never again be able to scam the world.

The End of the Beast is at Hand.
