

Patriot

I Am A Constitutionalist

When the people of the world are saying that all of the governments on this planet are insane, it is time to pay attention, re-examine our patriotism, what we believe, what we know, to whom we are devoted and most of all, why. It is time to Question Everything, especially authority and from whence it comes.

Are you the Hollywood version of patriotism...or ... are you the experienced, intelligent and common sense patriot who has derived your convictions based upon reason and experience?

Or, Are you a Veteran who has experienced the mud and the blood first hand? As a veteran, you know the truth by experience. There is no Hollywood left in you because you are purged by reality and you are free of the propaganda machine. There is no Post Traumatic Stress but there is truth and that is no disorder. This truth is what the powers that be, do not want known because this would stop all of the wars. You are the champion of the people,

Which one are you?

Are you the Hollywood composite of patriotism? which is manufactured as a product for consumers, inspiring recruitment under the bright and shining face of patriotism? Are you the Imperial face that is beaming the message of corporatocracy out to the masses as it conquers the world for profit and the good of the world?

Remember, all of your heroes and their programmed behaviors are the only reference that is given to the people. These are the qualities that a ruler desires so they may cultivate an individual to carry out the orders to sacrifice themselves and others in the name of the nation.

Some of the Hollywood images are showing the combat hardened warrior, who has seen it all and is still in the fight. What they are not telling you is, the images you see of the thousand yard stare, is only half the picture. What is not said is, the person in the photograph is in a situation where there is no other way home but to fight until your last ounce strength is spent and then keep going, because if you quit, you die. At this point, it is about survival and nothing more. There is no background sound track playing behind you as you go into oblivion and the blood is real.

What is this the origin of your patriotism? Are you merely a Hollywood hologram of propaganda and programming? Or, are you a person who thinks for themselves?

Are you able to detect the departures from the truth and make informed decisions about what is real as opposed to what is contrived? Or are you still asleep, awaiting for the magical kiss to awaken you?

Do you understand that war equals business? Can you see how war is promoted and marketed through Hollywood and mainstream media? Can you comprehend how you are used and inspired into being the fake brave, the glory seekers only to be used as the instrument by business to destroy the targeted marketplace, thus creating the demand for the contractors, who magically appear, to rebuild the recently destroyed society?

Is this patriotism of business? What exactly is patriotism?

Is this it? This is a definition found on Dictionary.com;

–noun

1. a person who loves, supports, and defends his or her country and its interests with devotion.
2. a person who regards himself or herself as a defender, especially of individual rights, against presumed interference by the federal government.
3. (initial capital letter) Military . a U.S. army antiaircraft missile with a range of 37 miles (60 km) and a 200-pound (90 kg) warhead, launched from a tracked vehicle with radar and computer guidance and fire control.

Patriots have the qualities stated in both definitions one and two. Where do these qualities originate? How did you first recognize the stirring of patriotism? Examining the origin of your patriotism could be a great insight to help you understand if your devotion is to Hollywood or to those who wrote The Declaration of Independence and The Constitution of the United States of America.

Our Awareness of this inner drive, known as patriotism, is important in that our conditions in the here and now, depend upon the amount of energy we put into managing those we have elected to run the nations and the world. As our attention was drawn away from the governing body and re-directed to our everyday family life, work and play, we allowed these less than honorable people to usurp the goodness and quality of our nation, while they pretended to be our advocates.

We allowed this to happen because we were programmed to trust these elected officials and just let them handle the day to day grind. They said, "Don't Mind the Man Behind The Curtain" while we learned to repeat the cold war mantra of fear, doom and gloom. This allowed less honorable people to slowly and methodically shift from our "down home good ole boy" approach to the new and more complicated, new fangled contraptions, that were beyond our comprehension, which could be handled "by experts". These "expert" individuals are the intellectual paper hangers who touted unsurpassed knowledge, touted to be vastly superior to the capabilities of the average man or woman, and was used to fleece us and to rule our lives.

Now that we have seen the orchestrated fall of Wall Street, the bailouts, the plundering of the people by the global bankers, insurance companies, mega-corporations and the IMF loan sharks, we should at least be suspicious about the motives behind these orchestrated events... and yes, 9/11 too. If you follow the money from prior to the Iraq invasion, which established a corporate beachhead in the middle east, you can see the attempted deal making with the NATO allies, just before the invasion. The spoils of war were offered to the NATO allies but none of the NATO countries wanted to take the risk. Then you see immediately after the invasion is executed and successful, these same NATO Allies scramble to get a piece of the action. Which is it, Patriotism or Greed? You decide... just follow the money.

Based upon this chain of events, the need to re-evaluate and express patriotism is brought to the forefront. Do I owe allegiance to a rogue corporatocracy that has stolen my government and subverted it into a giant ATM? What is my duty to this kind of government full of people who have little or no scruples or honor? Where does the buck stop?

Well, the buck has always stopped with you and me. It is our choice to participate or not. If we choose to participate, we take responsibility for our choices and inform these elected officials of the will of the people. If the elected officials fail to comply with our will, they may be recalled or impeached as the situation demands. This is a right and duty of a citizen.

As massive complacency is infused into society, the will to participate has been replaced with the desire to be entertained and the only voting we do, is voting for contestants on talent shows. While we are in an entertainment stupor we become drones to be used serving corporate profiteering.

Pseudo patriotic programmed drones are not patriots. This article is about patriotism, constitutional accountability and justice for the American People. In Short, this means that mob rule, kangaroo courts and self appointed assassins are not an option. Anyone who proposes such actions is going down a path contrary to the intent of the framers of the constitution and The Republic. These people are outside of the Amendments of the US Constitution and need to understand these documents as the contract for each citizen to be a human being, keeping us free of tyranny.

We must remember that all citizens are Innocent until proven guilty and guilt must be proven. Acting outside the constitution does not solve anything. Justice is served by the principles written in the Constitution of The United States of America, which is the only acceptable course of action. We must Honor those who framed the Constitution by abiding by it. In this action, we honor humanity for all of the people and demonstrate the very essence of patriotism.

First we must sort out the situation and then act as honorable men and women to restore the republic. Then we must keep sacred the tenants of this good and just moment that resonates in history and pass it to our children, as an honor which perpetuates the American way of life.

We need not lower ourselves to the criminal level to restore The Republic. We must be better than those who act out of ignorance and anger. Now is the time to elevate our consciousness so that we may live in a better world. We must help those who are asleep to awaken.

We as a people must restore our consciousness to a higher level which denies the lower consciousness access. A higher consciousness has no entry way for the anger and negativity that fuels the hatred and destruction which has existed up to this day. Such hate and anger only serves to divide us so we may be conquered, while a higher consciousness unites us forming a foundation for restoring and building The Republic.

We are better than all of this. We, as a people, can withdraw our support and our energy from this corporate machine that has crushed humanity, letting it starve and fall silently away into the darkness from whence it came.

We must recapture our integrity and our dignity so we can make sound choices, based upon facts rather than the propaganda that is force-fed to us. Let our consciousness be the beacon that illuminates the darkness thus depriving it from power or presence.

Now is the time for all of us to rise above this animalistic behavior that has been pounded into us. Dwelling in these realms serves only the darker side of what corrupts our human spirit. Lighting the darkness with consciousness and filling the world with the vibrations, the original sound of creation, denies the darkness the ability to manifest.

Even those who are sent to thwart and derail the expansion of this great consciousness, you are presently experiencing doubt in your own mission. Knowing that your humanity is surfacing, it is a long awaited relief, as it overpowers the training, circumventing all of your negative programming, to free you from the trance now.

Now is the time for all good men and women to come to the aid of their country.

Be The Patriot.
