Third Party Candidates Are Not Really Third Party If They Run On A Republican or Democratic Ticket are they?

It seems to me that third party candidates are being bought off buy running on a Republican or Democratic ticket. This is just another way of compromising the integrity of the truth and painting it red white and blue so the ignorant populous will fall for yet another slick payoff. Where are the guts? Where is the innovative platform that changes the country?

Well perhaps the country doesn't expect much these days. While the Democrats and the Republicans continue to raise hundreds of millions of dollars, to run in the political circus, the average person thinks that for anyone to run against them, one must also raise hundreds of millions of dollars.

That is true if one thinks they must use the same television and public appearances networking as the other candidates... but what if the grassroots effort was to render the mainstream media useless by pumping up the volume on the internet? Most of the cookie cutter candidates have no idea what internet is or how to use it. They still think Al Gore invented it.

If people organized real third party candidates on the net there could be a huge movement to crush the ability of the republican and the democratic money machines that keep the power of the average voter out of the loop. It is not about laws or politics it is about being heard and holding them accountable.

These two parties have been in power for way too long. They have subverted the government into a complete shambles for people while basking in the lavish lifestyles of the rich and infamous. Let the people skip all of this mainstream media game playing and get to the task of creating a new party for the people of this country who want accountability and control over our unconstitutional government.

This could begin by not responding to the current politicians. Do not tell them anything anymore. Do not participate in their party activities or support them at all. No more volunteering for any of their campaign work, just stop feeding them time and money. Let their campaigns dry up and blow away.

Do this on all levels of local, county, state and national politics. As the funds dry up and they can no longer pay the big bucks for the ads and fundraisers they will get the message. Non support is a powerful tool to establish who they work for.. and they should begin to remember that they work for you and I.

In the mean time, question everything they do. Make them produce documents and account for everything they buy and for all of the bills they pass. Call them on the carpet and have them account for their whereabouts if they were not at the office or in session. It is time to get our money's worth from these elected officials.

Establish a way to mass email them if they do not follow the will of the people by creating a website to get the peoples consensus on the vote they want the elected official to cast. IF the elected official does not cast the vote that reflects the majority of the constituents, recall that politician and leave that office vacant to cut your expenses or elect another person who will vote for the people. Either way, the elected officials will get the message loud and clear.

There is a lot of talent out there that can be used to create very powerful websites that can be used as a platform to establish the new way of electing the people instead of the repeating the same mistakes made by professional politicians. These websites can be establish a new form of political oversight and accountability for elected officials as well as bureaucrats. This is the new way to prosperity. Cut the fat from government at all levels by not funding unnecessary projects. Make the budgets public by posting them on the net so everyone can see how their money is being used.

These websites can be linked directly to the public officials and every penny can be accounted for on a daily basis. Remember, they work for you. If there are large amounts of money to be spent on a project, there can be a public approval feature added to the website to ensure that no one in the government can spend the money unless it is approved by the people. This eliminates all kinds of problems with slick politicians, greed and corruption.

This type of control is what is needed and the people can insist that they be created for their local, county, state and national governments. This eliminates a double set of books and makes everyone accountable in government. The glamour is gone and those who really want to serve the public will become public servants.

This is not a popularity contest. It is not like running for class president back in high school... but it is something that all citizens use to hold public officials accountable.
